NSU Art Museum

NSU Art Museum is partnering with various community organizations to host a variety of workshops as part of the Community Voices Series, NSU Art Museum's initiative supported by the Community Foundation of Broward, that focuses on exploring social and racial inequalities and challenging social structures, including representation in museums.

Join us as we welcome local artist, Djerlens Chery to host a drop-in art making workshop for all ages. Inspired by the Lux et Veritas exhibition, Djerlens will explore the relationship between Art and Hip-Hop. Participants will create Hip-Hop inspired artwork.

Support has been provided by the following Funds at the Community Foundation of Broward: Barbara and Michael G. Landry Fund for Broward, Peck Family Fund, Julia C. Baldwin Fund, and Frederick W. Jaqua Fund.

Djerlens Chery is a Haitian artist who studied visual arts at Dillard High School/Center for the Arts from 2011-2015. Later, he continued his education in the Visual Arts & Design Academy (VADA) at Broward College. Djerlens' art has been displayed at the Bonnet House Museum & Gardens Orchid Festival, Young at Art Museum, Made in Broward, Joseph C. Carter Park, Parker Playhouse, K.C. Wright Art Show, FatVillage Artwalks, and he has painted several murals in the City of Fort Lauderdale. Also, he is an art instructor for the Parks & Recreation Department of the City of Fort Lauderdale where he teaches young children, teens, and seniors.
