MUSEUM ON THE MOVE

Dear Teachers & Educators,

House of Glackens invites viewers into the domestic and creative spheres of the William J. Glackens' family, a tight-knit brood made up of patriarch William (1870-1938), mother Edith Dimock (1876-1955), son Ira (1907-1990) and daughter Lenna (1913-1943).

This exhibition primarily focuses on William Glackens' tender portrayals of his own family in their private home. Glackens' wife and children were among the artist's favorite subjects, leading to their appearance in key works such as Artist's Daughter in Chinese Costume (1918) and Breakfast Porch (1925).

These intimate depictions also make their way into Glackens' interpretation of the timeless theme of filial devotion. While these paintings of mother and child are unequivocally personal portraits, their universal subject matter provides viewers with a sense of empathy towards these unknown subjects. In choosing to have his family be the actors in his scenes, Glackens' indicates an openness to making his private life public and allowing his family to be part of the grand narrative of his career.

Alongside this presentation of works by the family's best-known member are manuscripts, published writings and paintings by Edith, Ira and Lenna. These works make clear that creative pursuits permeated throughout the Glackens domain, and that while the patriarch absorbed the public's focus, when at home, he was a gifted painter among many.

Overall, this exhibition serves as a cursory glance into a rich family history, that through the donation of over 1,900 objects to the collection from the Sansom Foundation, the Museum continues to unveil and make new discoveries.

ABOUT MUSEUM ON THE MOVE

Museum on the Move is an innovative education program that invites Broward County students to NSU Art Museum. The program enhances learning and increases engagement by involving students in interactive programs of the Museum's exhibitions and hands-on art activities based on principles of STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art, math) along with 21st Century learning skills. These programs combine observations and discussions of the artwork where students learn to recognize mediums, materials, and the artistic process. The art activities are designed for students to recognize how different elements function together to express ideas and emotions, solve visual dilemmas, and realize artists' intentions.

MOTM in-person field trip visits are here! During their encounter, students participate in a guided tour led by an Art Educator. Students engage in conversation exploring methods of critical, and divergent thinking. In-person field trip visits also include a hands-on art making activity led by an educator. Additionally, virtual offerings can be tailored to the needs of the virtual classroom. Several virtual learning modules are available to choose from, each specially designed to suit your teaching needs: Live Virtual Zoom Tours (one per semester), and Elements of Art and Principles of Design prerecorded video series includes art talk and activity, art making videos and printable lessons and activities.

Teacher Guide Activities Overview

The activities in this guide can be adapted to fit the grade level of your students. Each activity is based on the featured artist in the exhibition. Feel free to use this guide as a starting point for your physical or virtual classroom.

Description: The work of House of Glackens gives us insight into Glackens' family domestic surroundings and frame of mind as he captured the rapidly changing world around him. Through discussion, research, writing, and observation, students will explore the concepts associated with the medium of photography.

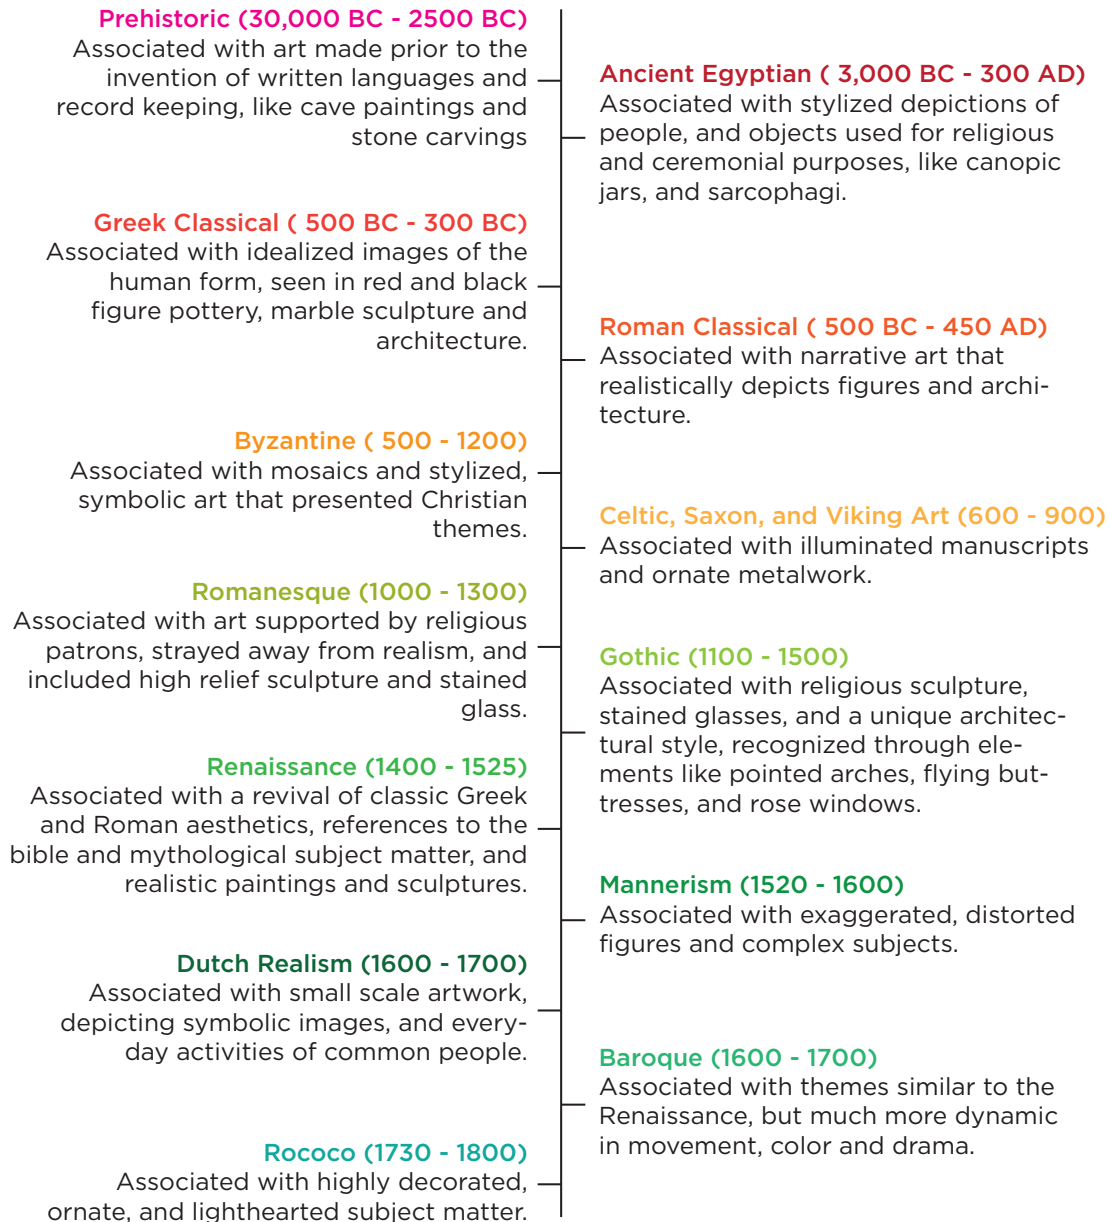

Learning Objectives:

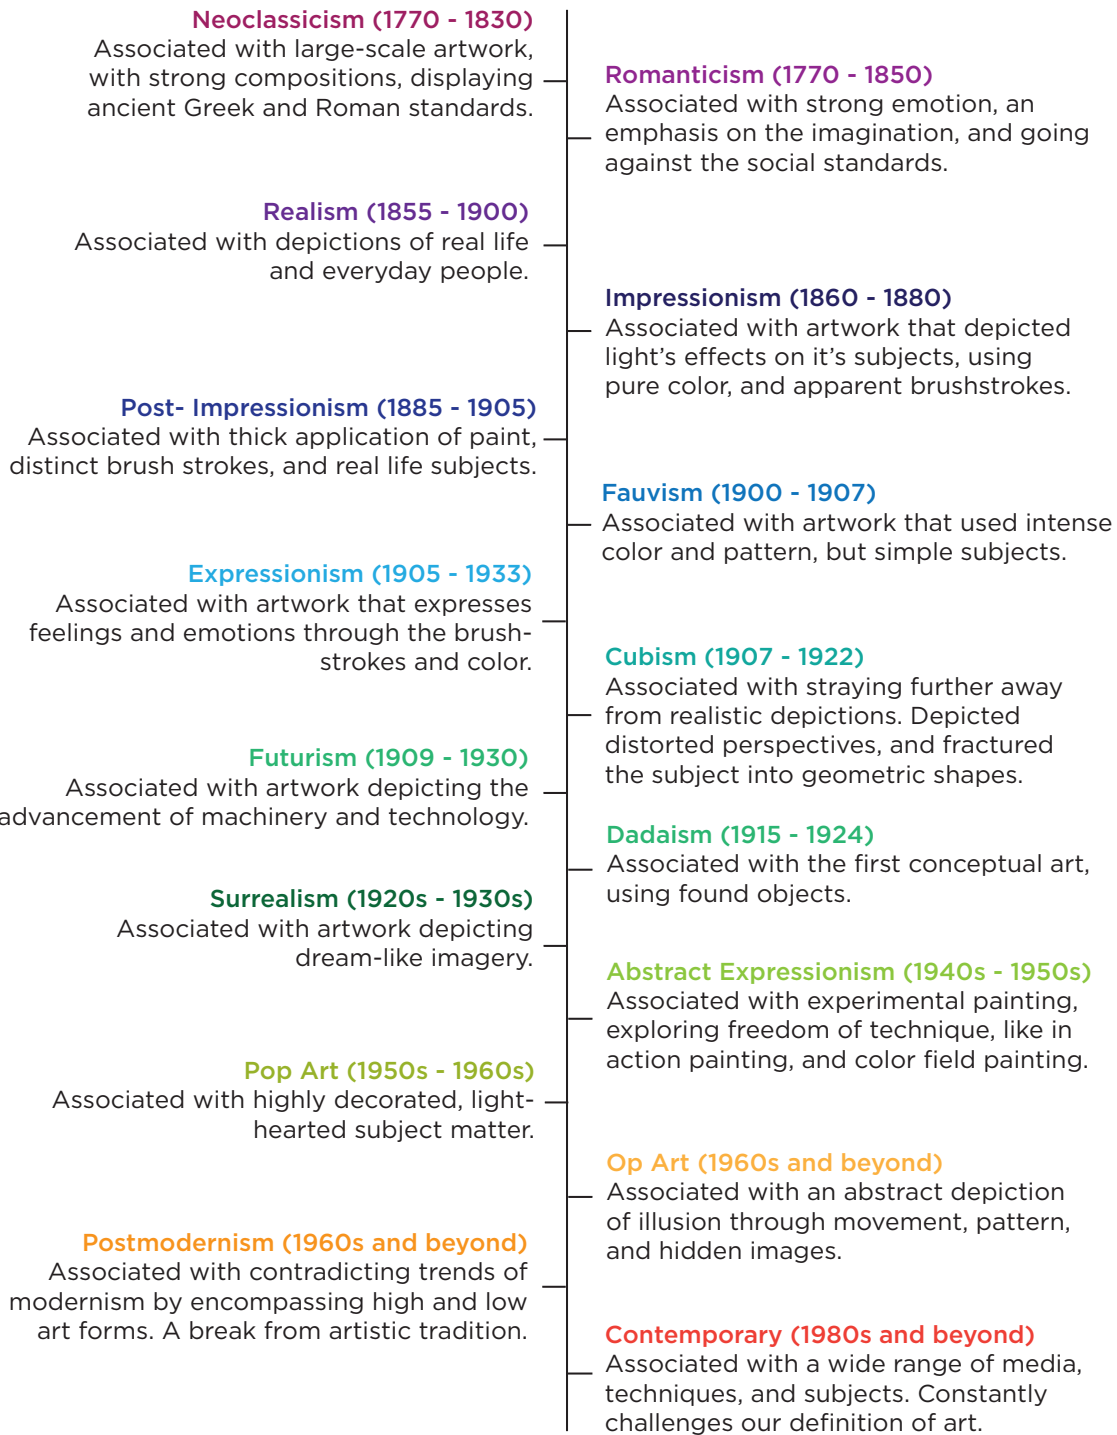

- Students will analyze artworks and think critically about what artists may have intended to represent in their works.
- Students will compare and contrast the modern period to present day.
- Students will build an understanding of the art-making process by creating plans for artworks of their own.

Essential Questions:

- What can we learn about life and culture from the past?
 - How does life and culture compare to today?
- What aspects of William J. Glackens' artwork allows you to understand the lifestyle and events of the specific time?
- How have the artist used their medium to communicate, or archive their ideas?

PRE-VISIT ACTIVITIES

Before your visit to NSU Art Museum, we recommend that you and your students discuss some of the ideas and themes in the exhibition. It is beneficial to introduce your students to a number of works from the exhibition. (You can find examples of his pieces on pages 22-26)

OBJECTIVES

- Introduce students to William J. Glackens, Edith Dimock Glackens, Lenna Glackens and their works.
- Discuss themes related to the exhibition.
- Elements of Art and Principles of Design

What is a portrait?

Ask your students, what is a portrait? During this activity, ask your students to discuss what constituted their idea of a portrait. Help them consider what is encompassed in an artwork concentrated on portraiture, how we interact with painting, and why an artist would create a portrait.

- a. Compare and contrast the portraits below. Think about the idea of space in each artwork. One has captured the subject in a photograph, while the other is painted.
- b. Discuss their similarities and differences.

Make it Abstract!

This piece is titled Imp at Villa Les Pivoines with mountains in background, it is a representational artwork. Recreate this portrait as abstract art, or non-representational art.

Imp at Villa Les Pivoines with mountains in background, n.d.

Use the three artworks below as examples of representational, abstract, and non-representational artwork.

Representational	 Three people on edge of pond, n.d, Photograph.	Looks recognizable similar to something in the real world.
Abstract	 William J. Glackens, Wickford, Low Tide, c. 1909, Oil on canvas	Increasingly moves away from the naturalistic image although it is still somewhat identifiable.
Non-Representational	 Piet Mondrian, Tableau I, 1921, oil on canvas, Kunstmuseum Den Haag Collection	The origins of the composition and image are not in the real world or are unrecognizable.

Questions for discussion:

1. What is a better style of art: representational, abstract, or non-representational? Why?
2. Can you find any similarities between the representational piece and the other two paintings?
3. Which elements of art and principles of design are incorporated in each piece? Do the artworks share any of them?

The Elements of Art and the Principles of Design

The Elements of Art are the basic parts used by Artists in creating art; they are what you use to create an aesthetically pleasing work. When we make Art, we need to understand and apply these seven Elements of Art.

Line A mark made by a pointed tool such as a brush, pen or stick, a moving point. Different tools make different kinds of lines.

Shape A flat, enclosed area that has two dimensions, length, and width. Artists use both geometric and organic shapes. Shapes come in many types and sizes.

Color Is one of the most dominant elements. It is created by light. There are three properties of light. Hue, Value, and Saturation. Colors can be bright, dull, dark, and light.

Value Degrees of lightness or darkness. The difference between values is called value contrast.

Form Objects that are three-dimensional having length, width, and height. They can be viewed from many sides. Forms take up space and volume.

Texture Describes the feel of an actual surface. The surface quality of an object; can be real or implied. Texture can be smooth or rough, hard, or soft, etc.

Space Is used to create the illusion of depth. Space can be two-dimensional three-dimensional, negative and or positive.

The Principles of Design describe the ways that artists use different strategies for creating a work of art.

Balance is the distribution of the visual weight of objects, colors, texture, and space.

Contrast is the difference between elements in a work of art, like color, line, shape, and texture.

Emphasis is the part of the design that catches the viewer's attention

Movement is the path the viewer's eye takes through the work of art, often to focal areas.

Pattern is the repetition of an element in a work of art. The pattern can use color, line, shape, or the other elements of art.

Scale refers to the size an object in relationship to another object. It is the feeling of unity created when all parts relate well with each other. When drawing the human figure, scale can refer to the size of the head compared to the rest of the body.

Harmony is when the elements of an artwork come together in a unified way.

Portrait of Imp

Create your own portrait of Imp, the Glackens's family pet.

Create your own portrait of Imp, include a setting for your portrait. Transfer the image of Imp provided or draw directly on the image.

1. Print out the image of Imp (pg. 21 single sided)

2. Using the edge of your pencil, shade the back of the paper where you see the dog.

3. Place this sheet on top of a blank sheet of paper and press down hard with your pencil while tracing over the outlines of the dog.

4. Your image will have transferred to your blank sheet of paper.

5. Create a background for your portrait..

Use this page and follow the steps to create a transfer image or draw directly on this page to create your portrait of Imp in a unique setting.
