BEST MUSEUM

NSU Art Museum Fort Lauderdale

NSU Art Museum photo

It may come as a shock, but South Florida's best museum is, in fact, not even in the Miami-Dade County. Between shows that explore important artists and movements like color-field painting ("Glory of the World") and ones that showcase the largesse of the region's local artists ("Future Past Perfect"), NSU Art Museum in downtown Fort Lauderdale shines. It offers the type of ambitious programming that other area institutions should strive for.

BEST ART GALLERY KDR

Moving her home-hosted gallery to a dedicated space on the growing art corridor of NW 22nd Street in Allapattah has only boosted Katia David Rosenthal's largesse as the most dominant dealer in town. The move made national news, securing her gallery as a "must-see" in Miami. Her slate of artists includes some of the most fun, funky, and buzzed-about in Miami, including Joel Gaitan, Susan Kim Alvarez, and Alejandro Piñeiro Bello, all of whom earned museum showings last year with art that impressed as much as it amused.

BEST VISUAL ARTIST

Alejandro Piñeiro Bello

Lush with iridescent, Fauvist color schemes and fluidic technique, Alejandro Piñeiro Bello's paintings practically drip off the canvas. You can almost feel the humidity and pressure as you pick out the surreal, mythical motifs hidden within. The Cuban-born artist had an exceptional 2023, debuting work at NSU Art Museum, KDR Gallery, and the Rubell Museum, where two of his monumental canvases currently hang.
